Our History

The charter of the University of Dallas dates from 1910, when the Vincentian fathers took that name for the Holy Trinity College they had founded five years earlier. This charter became dormant in 1929 and was placed in the chancery office of the Catholic Diocese of Dallas. In 1954, the Sisters of St. Mary of Namur obtained the charter for the purpose of operating a new institution in Dallas, which would absorb their junior college, Our Lady of Victory, in Fort Worth. The sisters, together with laymen Eugene Constantin Jr. and Edward R. Maher Sr., who directed the drive for funds, induced Bishop Thomas K. Gorman to have the diocese assume sponsorship of the new institution with ownership by its board of trustees.

Gorman announced that the University of Dallas would be a four-year coeducational institution welcoming students of all faiths and races, with a graduate school to be added as soon as practicable.

The new University of Dallas opened its doors to 96 students in September 1956, on a 1,000-acre tract of rolling hills located northwest of the city of Dallas.

The first president, F. Kenneth Brasted, served until 1959; the second, Robert Morris, from 1960 to 1962; and the third, Donald A. Cowan, from 1962-1977. In 1976, Bryan F. Smith was appointed chancellor to assist Cowan and to oversee the university until the next president, John R. Sommerfeldt, was appointed in 1978. Sommerfeldt returned to full-time teaching and research in 1980. During the search for his successor, Svetozar Pejovich served as acting president. In July 1981, Robert F. Sasseen became the fifth president of the university. In December 1995, Sasseen returned to teaching. Monsignor Milam J. Joseph was named the sixth president of the university in October 1996 and served until December 2003. Robert Galecke served as interim president until July 2004, when Francis Lazarus took office as the seventh president of the university. On March 1, 2010, Thomas W. Keefe became the eighth president of the university, and served until May 2018. John G. Plotts served as interim president through June 2019. Thomas S. Hibbs assumed the role of ninth (and first alumnus) president on July 1, 2019.

Members of the Order of Cistercians and the Sisters of St. Mary of Namur, together with three Franciscan fathers and a number of laymen, composed the original faculty of the university. The Franciscan fathers departed after three years. Dominican priests joined the faculty in 1958 and established the St. Albert the Great Priory. The School Sisters of Notre Dame came in 1962. The Cistercians now have a permanent abbey church and college preparatory school for boys adjacent to the main campus.

In time, the faculty has become largely lay people of many faiths, and it counts distinguished scholars among its members. Accreditation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools came in 1963 and was reaffirmed in 1973, 1984, 1994, 2004 and 2014. Significant honors have been won by university graduates since the first class in 1960, which earned the university's first Fulbright and Woodrow Wilson awards for graduate studies.

Bishop Thomas Tschoepe succeeded Bishop Gorman and served as grand chancellor of the university until his retirement as bishop in 1990, when Bishop Charles Grahmann, Tschoepe's successor, assumed this position. The seventh bishop of Dallas, Bishop Kevin J. Farrell, succeeded Grahmann upon Grahmann's retirement in 2007 and served as chancellor of the university until 2016. Bishop Edward J. Burns succeeded Farrell as bishop of Dallas and currently serves as chancellor of the university.

A gift of $7.5 million from the Blakley-Braniff Foundation established the Braniff Graduate School of Liberal Arts in 1966 and allowed the construction of the Braniff Graduate Building, Braniff Memorial Tower and the Mall. The Constantin Foundation similarly endowed the undergraduate college with gifts in 1967 and 1969. In 1970, the board of trustees named the undergraduate college the Constantin College of Liberal Arts.

Gorman Lecture Center and the Maher Athletic Center were completed in 1965. A legacy from the estate of Mrs. John B. O'Hara established the Summer Science Institute in 1973. Holy Trinity Seminary was founded in 1965 and occupied its present facilities adjacent to the main campus by 1967. The Graduate School of Management (GSM) began in 1966, offering what was at the time the largest MBA program in the Southwest. Influential graduate programs in art and English also began in 1966. In 1973, the Institute of Philosophic Studies, the doctoral program of the Braniff Graduate School and an outgrowth of the Kendall Politics and Literature Program, was initiated. The Institute for Religious and Pastoral Studies (IRPS) began in 1987. In 2007, the IRPS was renamed the School of Ministry and in 2016 the Ann and Joe O. Neuhoff School of Ministry. The College of Business, incorporating GSM and undergraduate business, opened in 2003. In 2012, the College of Business earned accreditation from the highly selective Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB International). In 2013, the university honored alumni Satish and Yasmin Gupta for their gift of $12 million; the Satish & Yasmin Gupta College of Business now proudly bears their names.

In 1975, the university's student center was doubled in size and named for J.M. Haggart Sr., and an addition was made to the Haggerty Art Center. The University Apartments, a facility for upperclassmen, opened in 1980. 1985 saw the completion of the Patrick E. Haggerty Science Center and the Chapel of the Incarnation. A chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, the prestigious honor society, was granted in 1988. In 1992, Anselm Hall, the first residence hall, was renovated, and the Father Thomas Cain Courtyard adjoining it was dedicated.

On June 11, 1994, the university dedicated permanent facilities for its Rome Program, begun in 1970. The 14-acre Eugene Constantin Campus, affectionately known as Due Santi, near Albano, Italy, is 20 kilometers from the heart of Rome. Recent years have seen the Haggerty Art Village, the Dominican Priory and the women's softball complex completed as well as other athletic facilities upgraded. A new student residence hall, West Hall, was dedicated on January 19, 2010, and renamed Clark Hall on May 14, 2016, in memory of deceased Class of 2016 member Zachary Clark. SB Hall was dedicated on Jan. 15, 2016, to house the Satish & Yasmin Gupta College of Business. Cardinal Farrell Hall, the new student services and administration building, opened in spring 2018. In 2019, thanks to generous donors, the Rome campus expanded its mensa, extended the residence hall, and bought land to allow a safe pathway for students to the Via Appia.

Today the university enrolls over 2,400 students from all over the United States and the world, divided roughly into 1,400 full-time undergraduates; 700 largely part-time graduate Gupta College of Business students; and over 300 students in the Braniff Graduate School of Liberal Arts and Neuhoff School of Ministry programs.

The University Seal

The seal of the University of Dallas is emblematic of the ideals to which the university is dedicated. It is likewise reminiscent of the deposit of faith of the Roman Catholic Church and of the traditions of two teaching communities within the church.

The decorative outer circle indicates the date the university was chartered and the motto, "Veritatem, Justitiam Diligite." The quotation, taken from Zechariah VIII, 19, "Love Ye Truth and Justice," emphasizes the university's purpose of advancing the search for truth and encouraging the pursuit of the good.

Enclosed within the band that bears the motto, in an octagonal field of green, are several emblems associated with the traditions of the university. The central figure of the triquetra interwoven with the triangle is a double symbol of the Holy Trinity, to whom the university is dedicated. The circle is a symbol of eternity and of the unity of the Godhead.

The fleur-de-lis, at once an ancient symbol of the Blessed Virgin Mary and of France, recalls the direct and indirect French origins of the two teaching orders that cooperated initially with the Roman Catholic Diocese of Dallas/Fort Worth in establishing the University of Dallas. The Order of Cistercians originated in France in the 11th century; the Sisters of St. Mary of Namur were founded in Belgium in 1819 by a Cistercian monk.

A crusader's shield, emblematic of faith, stands within the green field on either side of the central device. The shield on the left contains a star, a traditional emblem of Mary, as well as the chosen emblem of Texas, the Lone Star State. The shield on the right presents the torch of liberty and learning. The branches of the live oak and olive trees, taken from the Seal of Texas, make further reference to the state.

The Constantin College of Liberal Arts

The Trinity River, on which the university is located, is represented by the heraldic device of the wavy lines centered beneath the emblem of the Blessed Trinity.

The undergraduate college bears the name of one of its founders and principal benefactors, the late Eugene Constantin Jr. He was chairman of the first fund drive and served the university as a trustee from its beginning. Ruth and Eugene Constantin established a significant undergraduate endowment in memory of their son and took as their principal interest the welfare of the undergraduate college, an interest that is continued through the Constantin Foundation. Fittingly, in 1970 the board of trustees named the college in their honor.

The Constantin College of Liberal Arts seeks to educate students of seriousness, intelligence and spirit so they may develop the intellectual and moral virtues that will prepare them for life and work in a changing and problematic world; achieve a mature understanding of their faith; and become leaders who act responsibly for the good of their families, communities, countries and churches. Unabashedly, the curriculum is based on the supposition that truth and virtue exist and are the proper objects of search in an education.

The specific mission of Constantin College is to provide undergraduate education through baccalaureate degree programs that include a substantial and coherent Core Curriculum common to all undergraduates, as well as major studies in the humanities and sciences proper to liberal learning. The Core emphasizes the study of the great deeds and works of Western civilization, both ancient and modern. Majors invite students to disciplined inquiry into fundamental aspects of being and of our relation to God, to nature and to fellow human beings. The curriculum as a whole seeks to enable students to achieve the understanding of the human condition necessary for them to comprehend the fundamental character of the world in which they are called to live and work.

Since the university opened in 1956, offerings in business and economics have been an important component of the curriculum. When the Braniff Graduate School was established in 1966, undergraduate business courses were phased out and graduate offerings in business management instituted instead. The rapid growth of the Master of Business Administration led to the organization, in 1969, of the Graduate School of Management. Soon thereafter, a joint five-year bachelor's and master's program leading to the MBA was added. In 1988, an undergraduate concentration in business was developed to complement liberal arts and science majors. Further recognizing the important role of business education in society, the university established the College of Business in 2002, which incorporated both graduate and undergraduate business study. In fidelity to the liberal arts foundation of the university, the newly formed college elected to offer a Bachelor of Arts in business leadership, allowing the students to focus their major coursework on business studies while developing the leadership capabilities that distinguish University of Dallas alumni. The mission of the undergraduate business programs is to build a foundation for the students' lifelong development of the intellectual, moral and professional capacity necessary to effectively lead for-profit and nonprofit organizations. Accordingly, the college's programs foster an environment in which the students learn the fundamentals of business in the context of becoming ethical and effective decision-makers. Appropriate to a liberal education, the college's programs strive to be innovative in their course and concentration offerings to provide opportunity for in-depth study. In 2013, it was renamed the Satish & Yasmin Gupta College of Business, and in 2014, a Doctor of Business Administration program was added. The college's undergraduate programs stand united with the Constantin undergraduate college in the shared mission to prepare students for a meaningful and fulfilling life's work, whether through immediate career entry or through further education in graduate and professional schools.

The history of the University of Dallas is closely linked with the names of Braniff and Blakley. These are permanently enshrined in the Cowan-Blakley Memorial Library, the Braniff Graduate Building and Tower, and the Braniff Graduate School. Senator William A. Blakley, lawyer, statesman and industrialist, was a member of the first advisory board of the university. Both Senator Blakley and Tom Braniff were vitaly interested in private higher education. Before their deaths in 1954, Tom and Bess Braniff had known of plans for a proposed University of Dallas and had expressed hope that it would become a reality. Efforts to found the university also captured the interest and support of Senator Blakley.

The Blakley-Braniff Foundation was dissolved in 1964. Senator Blakley and the other directors of the foundation chose the University of Dallas for the site of the Braniff Graduate School as the highest and best tribute to the memory of Tom and Bess Braniff in perpetuity.

The Ann & Joe O. Neuhoff School of Ministry

The graduate school offered its first courses in 1966. The Braniff Graduate Building was completed in 1968, along with the Mall and the Braniff Memorial Tower. The Braniff Graduate School supports master's degrees in select liberal and fine arts disciplines, the doctoral program of the Institute of Philosophic Studies and the Master of Fine Arts.

Begun in 1986, the Neuhoff School of Ministry currently offers degree and certificate programs in theological studies, pastoral ministry, pastoral ministry with a youth ministry focus, and catechetical ministry. It provides a program of formation that prepares graduates to engage in the church's life and mission in a manner that is full, conscious, active and effective. This formation is theological, pastoral and spiritual in its orientation. The Neuhoff School of Ministry sponsors a Catholic Biblical School, which teaches in parishes throughout the Dallas/Fort Worth area. The Neuhoff School of Ministry also teaches courses that fulfill the academic requirements of deacon formation. A Bachelor of Arts degree in pastoral ministry was added in 2013.

By the conclusion of their studies in the various programs of the Neuhoff School of Ministry, graduates have received the necessary education and formation that will specifically permit them to serve the church in a variety of capacities — as catechists, teachers, Catholic school administrators, pastoral leaders, lay ecclesial ministers and deacons.

Undergraduate Honors & Awards

Joe O. Neuhoff was an early member of the board of trustees. In the years shortly after the founding of the university in 1956, he and his wife, Ann, helped strengthen and sustain its Catholic mission. On May 14, 2016, the school was named in honor of Ann and Joe O. Neuhoff's legacy of faith and service to the University of Dallas.

The baccalaureate degree with distinction is awarded to students who have maintained a high degree of scholastic excellence. It is of three grades: cum laude, which requires a cumulative average of 3.40 on a 4.0 point scale; magna cum laude, an average of 3.70; and summa cum laude, an average of 3.90. To be eligible for honors at graduation, students must have earned 60 credits at the University of Dallas. The average, however, is computed on the basis of the four-year program including dual and transfer credits.

Faculty Medals, First Honors and Second Honors, are presented to the two graduating seniors who have earned the highest cumulative grade point averages in the class.

The Cardinal Spellman Award is named in honor of the late Cardinal Francis Spellman, who presided at the university's first commencement in 1960. It recognizes a senior who is a model of the highest ideals of the university by awarding a stipend to assist the student in further studies.

The Helen Corbitt Awards for Excellence recognize a senior woman and man who have produced outstanding bodies of work during their time at the university. Students nominated demonstrate excellence in academic pursuits, in student activities and in service to the university. Helen Corbitt was a gifted chef and nutritionist, the recipient of national awards and the head of the Neiman-Marcus restaurants. Her commitment to excellence is continued through an endowment that supports these awards and also provides for special Rome Program activities.

The Ann Heller Maberry Award is presented annually to an outstanding senior woman. It is named in memory of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heller, longtime friends and patrons of the university.

Valedictory. The "farewell address" is given at Senior Convocation by a senior elected by his or her peers to speak for the class. Chosen from a list of candidates who have
