SENIOR STUDIOS will present two modern classics at Margaret Jonsson Theater November 29 - December 2. The production of The American Dream is directed by Kimberly Johnstone, a senior from Old Town, Maine. Costumes were designed by Kelli Bennett (Dallas) and Rich DeGrenier (Glenview, Ill.) designed the lighting. Dream was written by American playwright Edward Albee and revolves around the superficial relationship of Mommy and Daddy. The second production, No Exit, is directed by Mary Conner, a senior from Marshfield, Wis.) She is assisted by DeGrenier as stage manager and Bennett as costume designer. WANT PUBLICITY for a special program, an exhibit or seminar? News & Information will prepare and distribute news releases, assist in the preparation of printed materials and provide any PR support needed -- all we ask for is a little lead time. Local newspapers have deadlines that are often four or five days prior to publication for special sections; TV news people need to be notified a week before an event, at the minimum; and magazines have a six to eight week deadline before publication. For more information, contact Tim Searson at ext. 264.
